DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to amendments and remarks filed November 12, 2003. Claims 1-20 are currently pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-8 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kaneko (U.S. Patent 5,063,286).

Regarding claims 1-8 and 20, Kaneko discloses (see Figure 3) an imaging apparatus, comprising: a first substrate (chip 13a); a second substrate (chip 13b); a first imaging device (CCD) mounted on the first substrate, wherein the first imaging device includes a plurality of first imaging structures (CCDs); a second imaging device (CCD) mounted on the second substrate, wherein the second imaging device includes a plurality of second imaging structures (CCDs); and a glass tie bar (17) having a first portion attached to the first substrate, and having a second portion attached to the second substrate. Kaneko also discloses (see Figure 3 and column 10, lines 33-36) the first and second portions are attached by an adhesive (18) cured by a mechanism other than heat, a light-curable adhesive or an ultraviolet-light curable adhesive. Kaneko further discloses (see column 11, line 35) the tie bar has a coefficient of thermal expansion substantially similar ($\pm 1 \times 10^{-6}$) to the coefficient of thermal expansion of the first and second imaging devices. Kaneko also discloses (see column 11, line 1) the coefficient of thermal expansion of the glass is approximately 3.25 parts per million per degree Celsius and (see Figure 1) the first and second imaging devices extend beyond one edge, respectively, and are arranged proximate one another. Further, the imaging devices abut one another.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 9-19 are allowed over the prior art of record.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed November 12, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant asserts that Kaneko does not disclose the imaging devices including a plurality of imaging structures. Applicant further points to base 11 of Kaneko. Examiner disagrees. The CCDs are the plurality of imaging structures. In addition, base 11 of Kaneko was not cited in the rejection, and thus, Applicant's further assertions are moot.

Thus, as set forth above, this rejection is proper.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
